15. We prioritize your Convenience and Clarity: Your session will aim to cover more or less everything listed but mainly answer to your most important questions within the chosen time frame. Any essential remedies are also included. If you feel you need more time to explore specific areas and your personal life too in even more depth, you're welcome to request an extension with an additional payment, based on availability. There's no need to record the session yourself; our note-taker will prepare a clear summary of the main insights, which will be shared with you after the call. To protect client and consultants right to privacy, client-side recording is strictly not allowed. We take care of the keynotes so you can stay fully present during the consultation. Mode: You can choose between a video or a phone session. Added T & C's: The session is non-refundable and cannot be rescheduled within the 24 hours prior to the call. You will receive link and gentle reminder minutes before the call. Kindly join on time with a stable internet connection, as we cannot compensate for minutes lost due to late arrival or tech issues. There are no follow-up questions or post-call messages included, so please bring your most pressing concerns first. You may also want to have your notes or key documents nearby to capture anything you find most important or actionable during the session.
